This letter displays unofficial Financial Aid eligibility.

Official Financial Aid eligibility will be determined after new students have submitted their Statements of Intent to Register (SIR) to UC Santa Barbara. We may request additional verification information from you. Therefore, the figures below may change if the verification information provided is different from your most current FAFSA data. Tax transcripts that reflect significant losses from depreciation, carry-forwards, and income exclusions may reduce eligibility for UCSB aid. Additionally, your eligibility may be reduced if you receive other UCSB awards or outside agency scholarship awards.

Parent Contribution (PC): $6,160
Student Contribution (SC): $0
Expected Family Contribution (EFC): $6,160

EFC - This figure is calculated by the FAFSA and is one criterion used to establish your aid eligibility. It is not meant to reflect your actual cost of attending UCSB. See "My Net Cost" on Page 2, for a breakdown of your actual educational costs.

My Net Cost at UCSB

The Office of Financial Aid and Scholarships calculates UCSB costs based on average nine month academic year expenses. These costs are established to determine financial aid eligibility and are intended as a guide to help plan for meeting the cost of attendance at UCSB.

This guide presents your aid eligibility in a different format. It subtracts your grants and scholarships from the average estimated academic year expenses. The difference, or "net cost," reflects the amount you and your parents will be expected to contribute towards your educational expenses through a variety of means as explained below. It shows what your net cost will be after the total cost is reduced by the amount of your gift aid.

Total UCSB Cost Estimate	$36,846
Tuition and Fees	$14,472
Housing and Meals	$15,273
Books and Supplies	$1,158
Transportation	$594
Other Education Costs Includes Health Care, Personal Expenses, Phone Expenses, and Loan Fees	$5,349
Minus Unofficial Grants and Scholarships	- $20,486
Equals Unofficial Net Cost	= $16,360

Net cost is the difference between your total UCSB costs and your gift aid. This is the amount you and your parent(s) need to contribute from a variety of sources. Options and resources to help pay for net costs may include student loans and contributions from your work earnings, savings, and/or your family. Your parent(s) may also have the option to borrow a PLUS Loan to help you meet your UCSB costs.

A note regarding residency: When determining aid eligibility for unofficial financial aid award letters, the Office of Financial Aid and Scholarships awards students based on residency information reported on their FAFSA. Official residency classification is determined by the Office of the Registrar via the Statement of Legal Residency (SLR) process. Official financial aid eligibility will be based on official residency classification. Nonresident students are ineligible to receive institutional need-based scholarships, however, you will be considered for all federal financial aid, such as Pell Grants and federal student loans.
